“OUR FIRST MEETING WITH MADDY WAS AMAZING”

REVIEWS

DIANE, HIGHTON

Renovation Project

“Our first meeting with Maddy was amazing.

She spent the afternoon discussing our plans for our kitchen extension/reno project to gain an understanding of what we envisaged the end result would look like.

By that evening we had received a very comprehensive rundown on design notes, questions for the builder and suggested retail outlets.

We look forward to having Maddy consulting us through all aspects of the design and preparation, and to project manage the build. She gives us confidence to proceed knowing that we have her expertise from start to finish.”

PARIS, ARMSTRONG CREEK

New Build Project

“My partner and I met with Maddy in regards to building our first home and the consultation definitely exceeded our expectations! She was thorough, knowledgeable & honest. We discussed the ins and outs of the house itself and what we hoped to achieve long term.

Maddy’s knowledge addressed areas that we didn’t even think about!

What Maddy offers to her clients, in particular to young couples like us, building our first ever home, it truly eases our mind heading into our further appointments with our builder.

Amongst all the nerves & excitement that comes with building our first home, we can comfortably say that we are looking forward to seeing our dream home come to life. Highly recommend Maddy from her own business, GECSEK!”

WHAT TO EXPECT

The intent of our meeting will determine the type of information you'll be provided with. For example, for this project the client was struggling to find a suitable layout for their kitchen. The current kitchen was cut off and lacked any modern design principles making it cramped, dark and problematic. During our consult we were able to sketch new design ideas to achieve the desired brief and create a moodboard of inspiration ideas.

SHEAMUS, ROMSEY
New Build Project

“The process of choosing the layout and materials for the Gable One was made really easy by an organised, systematic approach and clear, concise advice. The order in which we made decisions was important and worked well. It allowed the conversation to move from one area to the next pretty seamlessly without the need to go back over things or switch topics too much.

While there is obvious scope for "outside" selections, keeping the choices at hand fairly limited meant the colour palate didn't get too confused and was easy to imagine. I felt there was a quick understanding of the mood we were looking for and so suggestions were often close to the mark – allowing decisions to be made fairly quickly. Overall, I thought the process worked extremely well.”

This session was organised on behalf of Builder, FormFlow for their client. It was based specifically on the scope and inclusions within their range and available upgrades
